A Foreword from the Editor-in-Chief

August 2020, Pekanbaru. Indonesia

I would like to thank and extend my gratitude to my co-editors, editorial board members, reviewers, members of LITA and APPSBI, as well as the contributing authors for creating Volume 2 No. 2, as the second issue published in this year of 2020.

Welcome to the latest issue of REiLA : Journal of Research and Innovation in Language. This journal is an international, peer-reviewed, open-access journal dedicated to publishing articles focused on language research and innovation around the globe. We look forward to helping advance the field of language research by providing a premier medium for publication.

REiLA publishes articles related to all research and innovation on language in many spectrum that can be related to History, Society, Humanity, Technology and also various perspectives in Education interest. The scope of REiLA includes studies in Linguistics and Applied Linguistics, which covers textual and fieldwork studies with various perspectives of language research and innovation. The journal was founded to promote scholarly exchange among teachers, practitioners and researchers in the field of languages.

The premiere issue of this journal includes six papers written by authors from different countries, such as USA, Iraq, Nigeria, and Indonesia. This remarkable statistic clearly shows that this journal will be truly international. Moreover, the articles span a wide range of interesting topics. Nasiba Norova have provided new insight of Sexism in Elementary EFL Textbooks. Khalid Wahaab Jabber; Hayder Tuama Jasim Al-Saedi have revealed A Study of Hot and Cold Metaphors in Iraqi Arabic. Ogunode Niyi Jacob has open our eyes due to the challenges confronting the administration of English language program based on his experience in Nigeria context. Then we have three papers from Indonesian authors such as Jumerli Ariati who will give us an analysis on phonological awareness of young learners, Febti Mahani Batubara et al., who discusses Montessori classroom environment and Baiatun Nisa with his papers entitled a morphological process of derivational affixes in popular line webtoon: the Annarasumanara as the last article in this present issue.

In this hard time due to the Covid-19 pandemic, the presents issue are all free of charge without decreasing its quality. The idea is to allow rapid publication of manuscripts after rigorous peer review, to the authors with open access, facilitating widespread dissemination and impact on the field of language. I hope the readers are making frequent use of this valuable resource and are finding it helpful.

Best of Luck
