A Foreword from the Editor-in-Chief

December 2021, Pekanbaru. Indonesia

In this lovely opportunity I would like to thank many people who created the opportunity for the journal who made this latest issue happen. The list includes all current Editorial Board members, reviewers, members of LITA, as well as the contributing authors for creating Volume 3 No. 3, December 2021 of REiLA : Journal of Research and Innovation in Language. In particular, my greatest thanks are due to the director of LPPM-Unilak Dr. Jeni Wardi, Mr. Alexander Yandra and Ms. Mutia S. Nursafira. These three kind-hearted persons are inspirational of the journal to share the knowledge to the academia.

The current issue of this journal includes seven papers written by authors from different countries and affiliations, namely; Rana N. Khoudary, exploring Populist Strategies in the Political Advertising Discourse of the French National Front. Asad Ali et al. wrote the second paper with new insight entitled An Clausal-Internal Switching in Urdu-English: An Evaluation of the Matrix Language Frame Model. The third paper is from Duong Minh Tuan, which deeply discussed Vietnamese EFL Teachers' Perceptions and Practices of Reflective Teaching as a Tool for Professional Development. Another exciting paper on Conscientiousness and English Language Performance amidst the COVID-19 Pandemic: Mediation of Self-regulated Learning is written by Khalid Bourrouk. Then the fifth paper from Ariel Ramos and Maritoni Baldespiñosa brought very nice research entitled Bridging between Beliefs and Needs of Language Teachers in Philippines: Personal Qualities, Strategies, and Framework during COVID-19 Pandemic. The sixth paper is coming from, Naveen Talpur, Tehmina Kalwar and Mir Jahanzeb Talpur, Computer-assisted Language Learning in Pakistani Context During COVID-19 Pandemic. The last paper is written by Matlotlisang Mokapane Lemohang Tjabaka, who discussed A Closer Look at Disjunctive Coordination: The So-Called Non-Constituent Disjunctive Coordination. I believed, these seven papers from this current issue should bring new insight and spirit of sharing knowledge-based research to academia.

As the Editor-in-Chief of this promising journal, I am deeply grateful to all the authors for their excellent works and remarkable contributions. Each issue offers useful reports and articles to the language learning and innovation as well as research experts. We encourage authors from around the globe to submit manuscripts on practical and scientific key issues in language of all disciplines. We are looking forward to receive extraordinary manuscripts and to promote the development in the cutting-edge of language research.

Last but not least, I would like to welcome all of academia, researcher and practitioners of language to this latest issue of REiLA : Journal of Research and Innovation in Language. This journal is an international, peer-reviewed, open-access which comprises the outstanding achievements of the world's leading researchers in language research. This journal will continue to move towards the internationalization of journals.

Best of Luck
